ARTIST'S STATEMENT

The cause and virtue of the beginning creates a notion, a sensation of sorts, an idea and the desire to act on it to do something with it.

For me, the matter is one of the most important aspects approaching new works. Once understood this fact, shape and size will almost sculpt itself to one total piece.

Some of my work is on a model scale, while others out of doors are rather big and constructive sculptures, made out of various materials.

I'm trained as a structural-engineer and worked together with architects and a number of sculptors from different countries. Some of those commission works went to Japan, China, USA, and Europe.
